

Dear members of the search committee:

Below you will find the list with the contact addresses for my reference writers, you have been provided with the names of three of them already. Application season, however, is a busy time for everyone, and there is an increasing demand for reference letters that we all have to deal with. As you can imagine, I have my quite own share of writing to do for my students. Not to overburden those wonderful colleagues of us, who have agreed to write on my behalf, I deploy a better practice approach of conferring only letter requests for positions that I am considered for seriously and short-listed. I would kindly ask that, if possible, you honor this request in the spirit of the collaborative community of the academe.

My reference, recommendation, and research review writers are:
